IN THE COURT OF CHANCERY OF THE STATE OF DELAWARI. 1 IN AND FOR NEW CASTLE COUNTY 2 Sec. Prairie MESA PETROLEUM CO., a Delaware 3 corporation MESA ASSET CO., a Delaware corporation, 4 MESA EASTERN, INC., a Delaware corporation, and MESA PARTNERS II, 5 a Texas partnership, 6 Plaintiffs, 7) C. A. 7997 VS. 8 UNOCAL CORPORATION, a Delaware HENRY D. STOGLIO . LOSRAINE B. MARINO MIN HED STER IN CHANCERY corporation, WILLIAM F. BALLHAUS, 9) Wilmington, Dol. 1930 CLAUDE S. BRINEGAR, RAY A. BURKE, 400 Court ROBERT D. CAMPBELL, WILLIAM H. 10 00 DOHENY, RICHARD K. EAMER, FRED L. 5 Chancery HARTLEY, T. C. HENDERSON, DONALD P.), JACOBS, WILLIAM S. MC CONNOR, PETER) 11 O'MALLEY, RICHARD J. STEGMEIER and) Oficial Reporters, 12 H DONN B. TATUM, Public Bidg., 13 DEFENDANTS. 14 326 15 Superior Courtroom No. 302 Public Building 16 Wilmington, Delaware 17 Friday, April 26, 1985 3:30 p.m. 18 19 BEFORE: HON, CAROLYN BERGER, Vice Chancellor 20 21 MOTION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING 22 ORDER PLAINTIFFS! 23 24

Read and the second

C. Ser COMPLET

PROCEEDINGS 3 MR. SPARKS: Before we begin, I would 2 like to introduce two out of state counsel at the 3 counsel table with me. 4 In the middle standing is James Martin 5 of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, a member of the 6 California Bar. 7 THE COURT: Good afternoon. 8 MR. MARTIN: Good afternoon, Your 9 Honor. 10 MR. SPARKS: At the far right of 11 counsel table is Mr. George Bond, general counsel of 12 Unocal. 13 THE COURT: Good afternoon. You are 14 welcome. 15 MR. BOND: Good afternoon, Your Honor. 16 MR. SPARKS: Thank you. 17 MR. RICHARDS: Good afternoon, Your 18 Honor. 19 THE COURT: Good afternoon. 20 MR. RICHARDS: This is the time set 21 for the presentation of our motion for temporary 22 restraining order with respect to what we refer to as 23 the amended debt tender offer made by Unocal. Before 24 Stand room

I begin my argument, I think it's probably in order, although I don't know that it has any direct bearing on these proceedings or the matter before Your Honor, to in effect give Your Honor a news bulletin on some of the matters referred to in the Unocal papers. There was a hearing, so I understand,

1

2

3

A

5

6

before Judge Tashima this morning on the question of remedy with respect to his findings in the California action, and I think his findings were made a part of the record by Unocal in one of their affidavits.

It's my understanding that at that 12 hearing Judge Tashima did essentially three things. 13 First, he adjourned the annual meeting of Unocal 14 until the later of two weeks after they send out 15 corrective proxy disclosures or May 13th, whichever 16 date is later, and he specified to them, it's my 17 understanding, certain corrective disclosures that 18 they had to make to correct their proxy misdisclosures, 19 or nondisclosures. 20

Secondly, it's my understanding that he has directed Mesa to file a new 13D in effect reflecting his findings with respect to our intent back in February and on the occasions of the various amendments before we disclosed an intent to effect a restructuring, I think, on March 27th. And he also 2 ordered us in accordance with the ruling that was attached to make corrective disclosures with 4 respect to our tender offer, and those related, 5 as the ruling indicated, with respect to our 6 financing plans for the back end and the effect of 7 our plans for restructuring the company that might 8 be on our tender offer. And it's my understanding 9 that he directed us to extend the date on which we 10 can buy or keep our offer open -- I'm not sure which --11 but he extended our date with respect to our tender 12 offer to three weeks from the date on which we 13 make such corrective disclosures with respect to 14 certainly the 14D and whether the 13D disclosures 15 are also triggered in that three-week extension I'm 16 not sure. 17

1

3

18 19 20 21

22

23

24

E,

2A1	6
1	THE COURT: Mr. Richards, if I may, to your knowledge, are there any proceedings in any other court involving the exchange offer that is at
3	issue here today, seeking to enjoin it under federal
5	law, for example? MR. RICHARDS: Yes, Your Honor, I think
8	there is an application before Judge Tashima. I am not aware of the current status of that. As of
9	yesterday I believe that was set down for a hearing on Monday before Judge Tashima, but that was limited
11	to violations of the Williams Act. THE COURT: Thank you.
13	MR. RICHARDS: Turning, then, to the matters that bring us before the Court this afternoon,
15	defendants here have attempted to do something here that no one has ever attempted before, and for very
16 17	good reason. In making the discriminatory tender
18 19	offer which they seek to support before this Court, they run counter to the main tenet, indeed, the
20 21	principal tenet of our corporation law: That shareholders must be treated equally and fairly.
22 23	In looking at the facts here, there is little wonder that defendants are recommending the
24	tender to all of their shareholders and tendering themselves, because they are offering their shareholders securities with a face value of $72 at a time when the market value for Unocal stock closed yesterday at 46 and a fraction. And yet they say under those circumstances the exclusion of Mesa is perfectly fair.

2A2

1

2

3

A

5

7

8

Ģ

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18 19 20 21

22

23

24

They say in their affidavits that the Unocal stock is worth at least $60 and might -- and I underscore "might" -- be worth $70 to $75 under the circumstances as they explain it. That is the Sachs affidavit, Paragraph 34, Page 17. But they don't explain that Mesa could not realize on those values unless it obtained control and unless it could do away with the restrictions and covenants designed to prevent it from either obtaining control or, if it obtains control, from selling any of the assets, which they are, of course, simultaneously insisting on in the very same debt instruments.

Thirdly, I think it is noteworthy that in neither of the investment bankers' opinions and in all the work they labored to do no opinion is offered by either of them , indeed, anybody on behalf of Uncoal that the offer is fair to Mess. They restrict themselves to expressions of opinion that it would be fair to the shareholders receiving

223		8
	2	the consideration, and it is easy to understand why.
)	3	Naxt I think it is important to note
	4	that the only hard numbers presented in all the many,
- 9	5	many pages of self-serving affidavits appear in 6	Exhibit A to the Sachs affidavit. And I think it is
	7	noteworthy that of the 28 values that are shown there,
	8	23 of them come up with a value that is lower than
	9	$72, and the mean-median is $62 and $68 of implied
	10	value. And in comparison to the two integrated oil
	- 11	company acquisitions, the only ones that are com-
	12	parable, the mid-values are $59 for the median and
	13	$57 for the mean. And all of those values are below
	14	the $72 stated value of their debt.
	15	Now, they try to say that Mesa has some-
	16	how admitted that the value exceeds $72. This is
т. А. д.	17	arrant nonsense. As the Coats affidavit reveals in
	18	Exhibit A, there is a Mesa in-house view of a value
	19	or suggested value at $64 a share. But this is before
	20	recognition of deferred taxes of some $1.3 billion
	21	and not $86 a share, as I think is really inappro-
	22	priately suggested in their brief at Page 10.
	23	Neither Goldman Sachs nor Dillon Read
	24	rely on John S. Herold values, and neither do we.	Contraction of the last and the state of the	and the state		į

244 Image: Ima
 And the Tasein affidavit makes it plain why nobody would. And if you reviewed their legal secretaries' notes of the statement in which Mr. Pickens is supposed to have adopted John S. Herold's value, you will see that even disregarding the hearsay nature of that evidence, that Mr. Pickens doesn't say he believes that is the value either. Then when you stop and turn for a moment to the market value information and this is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Paragraph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1960, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over snother; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these shovings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar would. And if you zeviewed their legal secretaries' notes of the statement in which Mr. Pickens is supposed to have adopted John S. Herold's value, you will see that even disregarding the hearsay nature of that evidence, that Mr. Pickens doesn't say he believes that is the value either. Then when you stop and turn for a moment to the market value information and this is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Paragraph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. Ma Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 	284		9 would. And if you raviewed their legal secretaries' notes of the statement in which Mr. Pickens is supposed to have adopted John S. Herold's value, you will see that even disregarding the hearsey nature of that evidence, that Mr. Pickens doesn't say he believes that is the value either. Then when you stop and turn for a moment to the market value information and this is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Paragraph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aherrational case but rather a case that is similar 		1	And the Tasein affidavit makes it plain why nobody notes of the statement in which Mr. Pickens is supposed to have adopted John S. Herold's value, you will see that even disregarding the hearsey nature of that evidence, that Mr. Pickens doesn't say he believes that is the value either. Then when you stop and turn for a moment to the market value information and this is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Paragraph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. 		19 m	would. And if you reviewed their legal secretaries' you will see that even disregarding the hearsay nature of that evidence, that Mr. Pickens doesn't say he believes that is the value either. Then when you stop and turn for a moment to the market value information and this is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Paragraph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 	٢		notes of the statement in which Mr. Pickens is of that evidence, that Mr. Pickens doesn't say he believes that is the value either. Then when you stop and turn for a moment to the market value information and this is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Paragraph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aborrational case but rather a case that is similar 			supposed to have adopted John S. Herold's value, believes that is the value either. Then when you stop and turn for a moment to the market value information and this is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Paragraph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 		5	you will see that even disregarding the hearsay nature
Then when you stop and turn for a moment to the market value information and this is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Para- graph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some abezrational case but rather a case that is similar	14	6	of that evidence, that Mr. Pickens doesn't say he moment to the market value information and this is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Paragraph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 		7	believes that is the value either.
 is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Paragraph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 		8	Then when you stop and turn for a graph 11 the all-time high for this stock was graph 11 the all-time high for this stock was $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 		9	moment to the market value information and this
 $56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying. And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 		10	is reviewed in the third Tassin affidavit in Para-
And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar		11	graph 11 the all-time high for this stock was is fair. Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 	12 10 2	12	$56 in 1980, and it was $41 before we started buying.
Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar		13	And yet they say the exclusion of us from a $72 offer precedent here. And Fisher vs. Moltz says that the burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 		14	is fair.
 burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 		15	Now, Fisher vs. Moltz is the controlling
 18 corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly 17 favored one group over another; and 3, that it is 20 fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can 21 make none of these showings. 22 And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some 23 aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 		16	precedent here. And Fisher vs. Molcz says that the favored one group over another; and 3, that it is fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 		17	burden is on the defendants to show, 1, a valid fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can make none of these showings. And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some aberrational case but rather a case that is similar 		18	corporate business; 2, that they have not unduly make none of these showings. 22 And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some 23 abezrational case but rather a case that is similar 23 bezrational case but rather a case that is similar 		12
22 And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some 23 aberrational case but rather a case that is similar		20	fair to all shareholders. And as we will see, they can
22 And Fisher vs. Moltz is not some 23 aberrational case but rather a case that is similar	0	- A. 32 in the laders and the controlling principles		1.
24 to the other decisions and the controlling principles		23
	Au Multi - Stanistani Stanistani	24	to the other decisions and the controlling principles
	River datter to read of the lot o	Martin Land that apply in other areas of Delaware law for dissolutions, for partial liquidations, for dividends, for redemptions. When you are distributing the assets of the company in any of these ways, you must treat the shareholders fairly and equally; so in this exchange offer.

10

Now, here when we look at their purpose, they attempt to say, well, our purpose here is to drive off an evil raider, and we are protected under the business judgment rule in doing that. However, the specific purpose here we are focusing on is not their purpose to drive us off but their purpose in discriminating against us in this exchange offer. And here the very purpose is illegal per se, because the purpose is to favor one group over another. And that makes it invalid on its face.

2A5

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18 19 20 21

22

23

The purpose, as they admit in their papers and in their offering circular, is to see that the defendants and their favorite shareholders get more money at the expense of plaintiffs. It uldn't be plainer. Indeed the Sachs affidavit explains just how the offer will have the effect of taking money from Mesa and transferring it to the defendants and to the other shareholders. Indeed he explains that it's a scheme to make Mosa pay $64.42 a share even if they don't want to, and even if at the time they are the controlling and majority shareholder in complete disregard of their responsibilities and duties to Mesa as such.

21

But Mr. Sachs concedes that it is not even necessary to exclude Mesa in order to accomplish their purpose of driving off the evil raider, and he does that at Page 21, Paragraph 42, where he says that "That's why they tendered for 50 million shares." dropping the so-called Mesa condition, because they thought that would be encugh even if in his words Mesa forced its way in to accomplish their purposes. It's also noteworthy that in the Sachs

22 It's also noteworthy that in the Sachs
23 affidavit, while he attempts to deal with Mr. Taszir's 24 second affidavit that the market price per share of

3-1

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

ç

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18 19 20

2

3

đ

Unocal won't go down as a result of the completion of the 50 million share tender, Mr. Sachs is unable to make that statement. He's unable to offer the opinion that it won't have that effect.

5 Mr. Sachs has to content himself with the 6 assertion which is notably weaker for an investment 7 banker that it could be worth $72. There is no opinion 8 by either firm that Unocal is worth $72.

Indeed in saying -- in expressing the 9 opinion that it's fair to the receiving shareholders, 10 they conceal their opinion as to what the value is 11 if it's not -- I mean, the only firm opinion is they 12 say it's at least 60. Of course if something is 13 worth the 60, 72 is fair to those people who get it. 14 120 would be fair to the people who get it. That is, 15 saying it's fair to the receiving people means it's 16 just on the plus side of fair. It only means that it's 17 not below fair. It doesn't mean that it's fair either 18 for them, and then of course there is no statement 19 that it's fair for anybody else. 20

Now, of course all of this complicated numbers argument they make with all of the mumbo jumbo of the good faith of the investment bankers going through all of these hoops is really ridiculous, and I think can be put aside in view of the board's recommendation to all of their shareholders that they tender and the board's own tender. And I think it's noteworthy there that in terms of interest the board's interest here is enormous, it's concrete, it's specific. They would get up to $70 million for their stock if it was all accepted.

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

13

8 Now, this board's self-interest imposes 9 a heavy burden of showing intrinsic fairness under 10 our cases on the board, and deprives them of the 11 business judgment rule if they had not already been 12 deprived of it. We cited Aronson and Sterling and 13 other cases in our brief and our letter.

But as we see from Fisher versus Moltz, 14 where the board didn't have any conflicting personal 15 interest as present here, the board did not enjoy 16 the benefit of the business judgment rule in the first 17 instance, but under the terms of making a discrimina-18 tory tender they had the burden without self-interest 19 of showing its fairness. So here that burden should 20 be doubly strict. 21

Now, their brief on the business judgment rule is simply beside the point for the reasons we have just explained. They are not 14

	entitled to the business judgment under Fisher where	Comments of the second
1
2	they are discriminating among shareholders, and they	- non-
3	are certainly not entitled to it because of their
4	enormous self-interest. The question of whether or	-
5	not it's a sound business judgment to try to defend
6	the company against Mesa's efforts is really beside	Contraction of the local division of the loc
7	the point. That judgment is not under attack at this
8	hearing today. What's under attack is the device
9	they used to try to implement that judgment.
10	That is, granting that a board may in
11	certain circumstances under the business judgment
12	rule decide to defend against a takeover contest,
13	that defense, or that business judgment power doesn't
14	enable or allow a board to employ an illegal or an	1
15	inequitable defense even if their purpose was
16	이 나는 아이에 가슴	- 2
17	이 집 방법 전쟁 전쟁에서 가지 않는 것이 없는 것은 것이 같은 것이 같은 것이 없는 것이 없다. 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 같이 없는 것이 없 않는 것이 없는 것이 없 않는 것이 없는 것이 않는 것이 것이 않았다. 것이 않았다. 것이 없는 것이 없 않이 않이 않이 않이 않이 않이 않았다. 것이 않았다. 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없 않이 않이 않이 않 않았다. 것이 않이 않 않이 않이	×
18	becomes evident when you look at the other	1.1
19	defenses that have been employed and sustained under
20	our cases.
21	이 내는 수요? 수요? 이 사람이 가지 않는 것이 가지 않는 것 같아요. 이 말 아무지 않는 것이 나라지 않는 것이 나라지 않는 것이 가 하는 것이 나라지 않는 것이 것이 있는 것이 않는 것이 없다. 것이 없는 것이 없다. 것이 없는 것이 없다. 것이 없는 것이 없다. 것이 없는 것이 없다. 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없 않는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 않 않는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 않는 않는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 없는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 없는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 없다. 않는 것이 않는 하 것이 않는 것이 않 않 않? 않 않는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 않는 것이 않이 않 않는 것이 않는 것이 않이 않는 것이 않이 않는 것이	1 - A - A
22	지 않는 것 같은 것 같
23		1.1.1.1
24	assets. Of course there is always a dispute. The	新いたの
· 1 · 2		à

- -

15 corporation says oh, these aren't dog assets; these 2 are good, and the raider says they are dog assets. 2 We are familiar with issuance of 3 stock in order to dilute the raider's position, and . 3 we are familiar with white knight transactions where 5 the board goes out and gets somebody else to come in 5 and make an offer. 7 Now, in all of these the purpose may be 8 to defeat, and the board's business judgment may be 9 sustained, that it was a good idea to drive off this 10 low or unwanted offer. But in all of them the 11 shareholders are treated equally. So that whether 12 the offeror wins or loses, he has the came values as 13 everyone else. 14 I mean, if the board has made a good 15 deal in selling its crown jewel assets, he as a iá shareholder benefits along with all the other 17 shareholders. He is affected to the same extent whether 18 he goes ahead and acquires the company or whether he 19 doesn't. The same with issuance of additional stock. 20 He may be diluted, but so are all other shareholders. 21 He is treated on a pro rata basis. 22 That is exactly what is wrong with this 23 technique. Here Mesa is going to be punished, and is 24

3.6 going to be hurt whether it goes forward or doesn't go forward, and it's being treated and unequally, 2 and that is fundamentally unfair. 3 Now, if you really understand what á Mr. Sachs is saying, what he is really saying is 5 well, I sort of think this might be fair because Ś Mesa might -- and I emphasize the word "might" because 7 that's the word used by Sachs -- they might come out 8 even. Now, how could that happen? They might come 0 Jut even if they acquired a 100 percent of Unocal, 10 and then could get control over the assets so they 11 could implement this program of orderly liquidation he 12 talks about. 13 Now, Sachs and Hobbs don't say that 14 Mesa can do that under the different circumstances 15 that exist here or under the circumstances of the 16 17 very different Unocal that will 'exist after it's burdened with either the 3.9 billion dollars in 18 additional debt or the 6.7 billion dollars in . 19 20 additional debt depending upon how successful their 21 tender offer is, and of course they don't say anything about the effect of the restrictive 22 23 covenants and the restrictions they are putting in which prohibit anybody acquiring Unocal from disposing 24 of the assets. I suspect that that possibility that Mesa might do just as well is not enough to sustain the defendants' burden.

3-6

1 .

If what the defendants have done here 4 is sustained, I think a new principle of law will be 5 born, and that principle is that a takeover bidder is 6 not entitled to equal protection of the law. His 7 rights can be treated differently from all other 8. shareholders. If that is so, consider carefully there 9 will be no more takeovers because no one will be 10 able to take the risk of such discrimination and 11 punitive treatment. If they can do what they are 12 doing here, what's to stop them from continuing to 13 exclude us as they in effect liquidate the company by 14 paying out all of the equity to other shareholders 15 leaving us owning a hundred percent of a debt-laden 16 shell with no equity left, nothing. 17

For example, they buy 50 million shares. We don't go away. We say well, we are still forging forward. We're just going to reduce our offer. Fine they say. We'll buy another 50 million shares. Have you had enough yet? If they can do it once they can do it twice, and they can do it three times until finally all of the net equity is paid out to all of 20.

1-7

18

19

21

22

23

-8		18
	1	the other shareholders leaving the 13.6 percent shareholder without any equity and with a company all
0	2	of whose assets are completely burdened with debt.
	3
	4
	6
	7
	8 9 10
	. 11
	12
	13 14
	15 16
	17
	18 19
	20	and the second	63. 1997 - 1997 1997 - 1997 1997 - 1997 - 1997
0	21
	22
	23 24 and the second se

×.

の代記を記録が見たい

And what about their fiduciary duties. to us? There is not a single word in their brief. There is not a single word acknowledging that we are a shareholder, entitled to the same obligations of good faith and fair treatment as all of the other favored shareholders. There is no explanation in their brief of how they can disregard their fiduciary duties to us or how they can treat us inconsistent with their duty to all shareholders to treat them fairly. And what about in the event Part II of their tender offer is complete? What about their duty to us then as their majority shareholder, what the Delaware Supreme Court in the Martin Marietta case moral duty not to disregard the wishes of their controlling shareholder? Not a word in their brief or papers as to how it would be fair to make a gigantic and overwhelming tender offer or complete such a tender offer in the face of the fact that the majority shareholder didn't want them to do it, and with the evident admission by Mr. Sachs that at that point at least the whole purpose of it is to take money from Mesa without its consent and to convey it to the public shareholders.

- Jahren Maria

4A1

1

*

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18 19 20 21

22

23

24

Now, I think their numbers are really irrelevant. The market price of this stock is $46. They are offering 72. They are taking it. They are recommending it. And we want it because we believe it to be above the fair value. And that is enough, that we want it. It doesn't matter if we are wrong. This Court doesn't have to resolve what the fair market value of Unocal stock is. In fact, we should have a right to decide for ourselves whether to tender or not. And it is the deprivation of this right which is the discrimination.

4AZ

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18 19 20 21

22

23

24

'And I suggest to you on the showing made in the third Tassin affidavit that we have performed a very sophisticated analysis of these values and that the suggestion that the values equal or exceed $72 is not sustainable even if it was material to "our Honor's decision, which we think it is not.

Now, in addition to this inequitable effect, the tender offer and the timing of it five or six days before they thought they were going to have their meeting was designed to bolster up a sagging and losing proxy contest. The market perceives, as Mr. Carter explained, that if this tender offer is allowed to go forward and succeed, that the very affect of its unfair and discriminatory treatment

483	21
2	will have the effect of tending to deprive us to go
3	away, and that will deprive shareholders of one of
4	the principal reasons of voting for the adjournment;
5	that is, the hope that Mesa will come forward with
6	a proposal which they can consider at the adjourned
7	meeting which they will find advantageous. Now,
6	Mr. Carter's affidavit, and particularly Paragraph 7
9	of it, I think, is quite strong in terms of his
10	reasoning.
n	Now, Mr. Gavin, of course, differs
12	with respect to the conclusion, but and I think
13	this is noteworthy in his affidavit he does not
14	attack Carter's reasoning. He doesn't say that what
15	Carter says is the perception and that the motivation
16	is not true. He simply reaches a different con-
17	clusion.
18	I think it is ironic that they should
19	have done this in the last five or six days, when the
20	last time we were before this Court they were
21	speculating that we might try something they called
22	the Saturday Night Special, when they talked about
23	how unfair it would be if we were to spring some
24	new tender offer on their shareholders with only ten days to go. Well, they have just Saturday-Night-Specialed their own shareholders, and they have done it in conjunction to try to tip the balance at their annual meeting.

22

Now, we think that having shown the discrimination, we have shown irreparable harm, because it can't be disputed that Unocal is a unique opportunity. The purchase of 50 million shares under these circumstances will irrevocably affect Unocal and this unique basket of assets. It will irrevocably change the circumstances of those people who are tendering and who are accepting and those people who remain outside the tender, and it will have its own irrevocable and at this point unpredictable and incalculable effect on all the subsequent events; 15 that is, what would happen at the annual meeting, 16 what would happen to our offer, what we would do next, 17 what they would do next. 18

There is no way even by the payment of billions of dollars to restore the situation that the situation could be put back the way it is now. And we think the suggestion by Mr. Sachs and in the brief that because Unocal could respond in billions of dollars in damages completely misses the point.

GAA

* # +4

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

19 20 21

22

23 н ан н

	23
1	The wrong that is being done is by the individual
2	director defendants. It is they who would have to
3	respond in billions of dollars in damages, because
A	a remedy by which Unocal paid it, one of its
5	shareholders, would be taking the damages at least
6	to the present extent of 13.6 percent and using it
7	to reimburse ourselves. But even were that not true,
8	even if the Unocal directors had billions of dollars,
9	we submit there is no way that money could be spread
10	around to put everybody back into the position under
11	which they were at the present.
12	Now, we think Plaza Securities is
13	directly on point. And it holds that where a clear
14	legal right is interfered with and here we think
15	we have established that and where there is no
16	way to restore us to the position which we now
17	occupy and we think that Your Honor would be a
18	magician if you were able to io that and where
19	it would have an irrevocable effect on the proxy
20	solicitation and the conduct of the annual meeting,
21	that there has been a showing of irreparable harm.
22	This Court, we submit, should not depart from the
23	bedrock principles of Deleware law to approve the
24	defendants' cynical, calculating and self-serving

			1
A 6		24
	 1	salf-tander. And I use each word advisedly.
	2	"Cynical" because their minutes show that they knew
	C.	of its inequitable effect. They knew it might be
	4	illegal, but they decided to take the chance,
	5	calculating because of the evident guile of its
	6	investment bankers and lawyers in putting a plan
	7	together and taking the chance that this Court might	-
	8	strike it down, as it had struck down their inter-
	9	pretation of the bylaw.
	10	And "self-serving," of course, because
, vi	11	the defendants intend while pretending to fend off
2.1	12	Mesa and to benefit their other shareholders to line
	13	their own pockets with the proceeds from this self-
	14	tender.
	15	For all of these reasons we respectfully
	16	request that a restraining order be entered against
	17	this self-tender. Thank you.
	18	THE COURT: I have a few questions,
	19	largely to make sure that I am not missing what you
	20	believe is at issue and what isn't at issue.
	21	I believe that it is your position,
	22	at least as of today in this context, that you are
•	23	not attacking the exchange offer per secas being
	24	beyond the business judgment of the directors as a
- Alexandre
AP - Deck fr	10040000		STATE AND

12.

6 P.

にないなどではないの

		· · · · ·
417	25	1
1	defensive maneuver to what they view as a hostile
2	takeover attempt that is not in the best interest of
3	its stockholders. In other words, you are not	101
4	seeking relief on the grounds that you don't believe
5	there was any basis for them to have made that
6	business judgment; is that correct?
7	MR. RICHARDS: That is correct. I am
8	not attacking, you know, whether or not they used	1.2
9	due care and their proper experts and took enough
10	time and thought about it. Of course, I am saying
11.	that even if they did all that, that that cannot
12	bless something which is discriminatory on its face	è -
13	and has the purpose of discriminating, for the 14	reasons that I have said.
15	THE COURT: Okay. Then if we are
16	turning at this point to the Moltz decision, in
17	terms of the discriminatory offer having to have a
18	valid purpose, wouldn't you agree that in the broad
19	sense, since you are not attacking this defensive
20	maneuver, that the valid corporate purpose under
21	Moltz would be an effort to thwart a takeover attempt	See North
22	that Unocal believes is not in the best interest	10 Jan -
23	of its stockholders?	Service Service
24	MR. RICHARDS: No. I think that is a

	26
1	subtle point, Your Honor. I would say no, because
2	they say, you know, this is an anti-takeover defense,
4 67	and I am saying, well, I am not challenging their
4	right to construct anti-takeover defenses, but I am
5	getting down I guess closer to what they have done
6	and examining what is the purpose for the discrimina-
7	tion. And the purpose for the discrimination is to
8	hurt us and to benefit others. And I am saying,
9	you know, that is illegal and inequitable per se
10	and that no greater business judgment, whatever they
11	thought they were doing even if the Court were
12	to find that they were attempting to exercise their
13	best judgment and they were doing this to drive off
14	Mr. Pickens, I am saying that what they have done,
15	the more limited purpose of specifically discriminating,
16	makes it illegal. And they might have a valid
17	judgment that they want to drive off Mr. Pickens,
18	but they have chosen an illegal or inequitable weapon.
19	I mean, there must be a line, there
20	must be things that you can do and things that you
21	can't do. I mean, you couldn't conduct a business
22	judgment and decide, well, we will assassinate
23	後回の時にはため(形式の)であり、例えば、「「たくてん」、「「おくてん」」という。 ないしょう ちゅうちょう しょうてい かいてい しょうしょう
24	of this kind. I mean, you couldn't say, well, that

	11
429		27
999 (16. 27), ang ti ang ti ang ti ang ting		is a business judgment and everybody thought that
	2	would be the most effective way to remove him from the scene.
	3	I don't know whether that is clear.
	4	THE COURT: All right. I think perhaps
	5	all we have got is semantic problem at this point.
4 1	6	You are going to what I would view as the second step
	7	under Moltz, which is that even if you have a proper
	8	reason for the discriminatory offer, that is not
	9	enough if it unduly burdens one group and is not a - 20	10	justifiable in that step.
	11	MR. RICHARDS: And there is sort of a
	12
	13	third test added by Fisher on reargument which they
	14	clearly can't make, and that is it has got to be
1. 1	15	fair to all the shareholders.
	16	THE COURT: Well, leaving that aside
	17.	for the moment, what I am getting at is that it seems
1 	18	that the purpose aspect of it under Moltz is their
	19	defensive purpose of getting rid of this takeover
	20	threat, and that to accomplish that purpose they
	21	have put into place a discriminatory offer as opposed
.	22	to the purpose of the offer being just to discrim-
	23	inste for the sake of discriminating. It is to 24	discriminate for the sake of getting rid of Mesa.

-

MR. RICHARDS: Well, I mean, I see the 1 semantic difficulty, and I see Your Honor's point. But: I mean, could you then have a proper purpose 3 as an example I used for murder or arson? I mean, 4 the board had a proper purpose, and it might be quite 5 effective, too. But, I mean, there isn't the clear, 6 bright line, in my mind, between the purpose here 7 and the method of executing the purpose, which is 8 per se invalid because it is not some inadvertent 9 effect or it has some unfair effects. The purpose 10 is to freeze them out with nothing and discriminate 11 in favor of all of the other shareholders and, more-12 over, to make sure that they other shareholders get 13 more than if you extended the offer to Mr. Pickens 14 and his group as well. 15 16

4A10

3

17

18 19 20 21

22

23

24

28

And Mr. Sachs, I think, had made a further condession, in which he says it isn't even. necessary to accomplish our purpose to exclude the Mesa group. That is why we picked 50 million shares. I mean, we can still drive them away and treat them fairly.

THE COURT: Okay. I think I understand the distinction you are drawing.

Also, I seem to be getting conflicting

4211		29
	1	impressions on whether the Court has to be concerned in an	2	at this point with whether $72 in debt a share is or
	3	is not fair value.
87	4	MR. RICHARDS: Well, let me see if I
	5	can straighten that out. I guess our position is,
	. 6	first of all, that Your Honor doesn't have to be
	7	concerned with that. And then I guess the evidence
	3	that we have put in is, but if Your Honor thinks you
	9	do have to be concerned with that, we assert that 1997) 1997) 1997)	10	their evidence is not credible. So it is an alter-n	native position. And I think I didn't make that 12	very clear in my argument.	. 12
	13	THE COURT: Thank you.	*
	14	MR. RICHARDS: Thank you.	1
	15	MR. SPARKS: Your Honor, I think I
	16	will take Your Honor's questions as they come along,
	17	because I think I have answers for them.
	18	THE COURT: Okay.	-
	- 19	MR. SPARKS: Your Honor, this motion
	20	comes before the Court in a unique factual posture
	21	for at least five different reasons, and maybe six,
	22	because I must say I don't believe I really yet
	23	understand exactly the relief that Mr. Richards is
	24	seeking, but I am going to take his motion at its
Call Call			1 4

A REAL PROPERTY AND A REAL

34A12	3 0
JARIZ 1	face value, although his motion differs from his
2	amended complaint, which came after the motion. The
3	motion says enjoin the exchange offer. The amended
4	complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the
5	alternative, let him into our offer with some sort of
6	a mandatory temporary restraining order.
7		1948. 1948 -
8 9 10 11 12
13		13 13 15 1
14		- 15
16
17
18		en artistes
19
20	and the second	A stand
2 ¹
22
23 23
24		re zero

and the second second

2,42

I don't know which it really is he seeks, but I'll try to deal as if we are seeking both. First, Your Honor, Mesa is seeking to enjoin a tender offer which it has conceded is beneficial to Unocal's public shareholders. The offer has been characterized by Mr. Pickens as the best thing Unocal management has done for its stockholders. Indeed in Mr. Pickens' own notes, his handwritten notes which were produced to us yesterday, which amazingly are big enough for even the Court to see from that distance, he says: "That is good for all stockholders except us," and he goes 12 ahead and says, "Go ahead and tender your shares, and 13 vote for adjournment." 14

1

2

3

4.

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

So he's telling the shareholders this 15 is a good deal for them; that he wants to enjoin it. 16 That I think immediately begins to show one dichotomy 17 in his position versus those of the shareholders, 18 and begins to show, as we will get to in more detail, 19 the type of justification that permits us in our 20 law, not withstanding Mr. Richards' version of it, 21 and permitted us for many, many years, to take 22 actions against faiders, against raiders who happen 23 to hold stock. 24

 face value, although his motion differs from his amended complaint, which came after the motion. The motion says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the elternative, let him into our offer with some sort of a mendetory temporary restraining order. a mendetory temporary restraining order. 	34B12	30	L CARE CARE CARE
<pre>complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the alternative, let him into our offer with some sort of a mendatory temporary restraining order. a mendatory temporary restraining order. b complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the alternative, let him into our offer with some sort of a mendatory temporary restraining order. complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the alternative, let him into our offer with some sort of a mendatory temporary restraining order. complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the alternative, let him into our offer with some sort of a mendatory temporary restraining order. complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the alternative, let him into our offer with some sort of a mendatory temporary restraining order. complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the alternative, let him into our offer with some sort of a mendatory temporary restraining order. complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the alternative, let him into our offer with some sort of a mendatory temporary restraining order. complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the alternative, let him into our offer with some sort of a mendatory temporary restraining order. complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the exchange offer and, in</pre>		amended complaint, which came after the motion. The
 a mandatory temporary restraining order. 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 		complaint says enjoin the exchange offer and, in the
8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 21 22 23 3		a mendatory temporary restraining order.
10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23
12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23	1	0
14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23	2.0.7
16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23		4
18 19 20 21 22 23		6	State of the Automation
20 21 22 23		8	A CONTRACTOR OF A CONTRACTOR O
22 23		20
24		22
		24

のないでは

1.81

The second

10.00 1

I don't know which it really is he seeks, but I'll try to deal as if we are seeking both. First, Your Honor, Mesa is seeking to enjoin a tender offer which it has conceded is beneficial to Unocal's public shareholders. The offer has been characterized by Mr. Pickens as the best thing Unocal management has done for its

5-1

1

2

3

4.

5

6

7

8

9

15

16

18

stockholders. Indeed in Mr. Pickens' own notes, his handwritten notes which were produced to us yesterday, which amazingly are big enough for even the 10 Court to see from that distance, he says: "That is 11 good for all stockholders except us," and he goes 12 ahead and says, "Go ahead and tender your shares, and 13 vote for adjournment." 14

So he's telling the shareholders this is a good deal for them; that he wants to enjoin it. That I think immediately begins to show one dichotomy 17 in his position versus those of the shareholders, and begins to show, as we will get to in more detail, 19 the type of justification that permits us in our 20 law, not withstanding Mr. Richards' version of it, 21 and permitted us for many, many years, to take 22 actions against raiders, against raiders who happen 23 to hold stock. 24

31

法

I mean, there is nothing in our law that says that you cannot develop a defensive technique against a raider just because he happens to own stock. In fact most of the raiders that ever come down the road buy stock before they raid, and Mr. Richards' position taken to its logical extreme, it wouldn't stop takeovers. It would stop all defenses to takeovers. And our Supreme Court has spoken as recently as Pagoda and this Court as recently as Moran made it clear that directors and corporations may take action to oppose hostile takeovers that they have found to be inadequate or inappropriate for their shareholders. 13

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

16

11

12

14

15

16

17

18 19 20

21

22

That brings us to the next unique factual posture of this case, and that is that plaintiffs have conceded that the judgment made by the board -- actually two judgments made by the board, and before we get to this discrimination point those judgments being one, that the Mesa offer was grossly inadequate. They have conceded for at least the purposes of this motion that that was a valid judgment not under attack at least here. And the judgment, the corollary judgment to take action 23 against Mesa indeed to take an exchange offer they 24 have conceded is within the scope of the business judgment rule is not attacked here. They say all of those things, all of those things are givens, and the Court therefore has to take them as givens for purposes of this motion.

1

2

3

4

5

6

33

Indeed they have a hard time attacking the bona fides of the judgment that it's an inadequate 7 tender offer since, as Mr. Richards conceded just a 8 moment ago, they themselves internally believe that 9 the company as they state is worth something in the 10 range of the mid-60's. We believe they have also 11 made it clear that it's worth in their judgment a 12 lot more than that, and I'll get to that. 13

Third, I have already covered the fact 14 that Mesa has urged other stockholders to tender 15 to Unocal while at the same time claiming in this 16 Court that the fact that everyone else is tendering 17 is damaging them. 18

Fourth, plaintiffs have placed no 19 evidence in the record -- still haven't placed any 20 evidence in the record, even though I saw the 21 third Tassin affidavit in the middle of the argument -22 there is still nothing in there but belief. No 23 ovidence in the report to rebut the reason and 26

15 CUMP (2001)

ange -- States and the 4

5

6

7

8

23

24

5-2

deliberate conclusion reached by Unocal's independent board supported by the advice of its investment bankers that the $72 per-share price paid to purchase 50 million shares fairly reflected the underlying asset values of Unocal.

Indeed, Your Honor, once again we have a circumstance where Mr. Pickens publicly stated just three days ago in response to a reporter's question seeking confirmation that the per-share value was 9 higher than . $72 that John Herold figure is 73, and 10 then he goes on and says Herold is a recognized 11 authority. 12

So when it suits Mr. Pickens' purpose he 13 says one thing. He does not come before this Court 14 either by affidavit or by deposition, or anything else, 15 to straighten out the record. 16

Indeed the Tassin affidavit is 17 amazing. Mr. Tassin says in his affidavit that he 18 can swear that Mr. Pickens believes that it's 19 something other than 72. Well, Your Honor, where is 20 the Pickens' affidavit? ... Indeed where is the investment 21 banker's affidavit on this issue. 22

We have two investment bankers' affidavits. Presumption of the business judgment rule,

14

	The second s	free
4	a judgment by the board of directors, a presentation
2	by the company's financial officer, and all we get in
3	return is some language from Mr. Tassin that he
4	believe that Mr. Pickens doesn't believe that $73 is
5	an appropriate value for this company notwithstanding
6	that Mr. Pickens said it three days ago.
7	Also on this point plaintiffs seem to	1.2
3	suggest that we are just somewhere off the wall on
9	this $72 number. We have all the proof that there is
10	in the record. They have none.
11	Even from themselves they mention a
12	$64 number. Mr. Richards mentioned a $64 internal	1
13	number that Mesa had used.
14	Your Honor, I would direct Your Honor's
15	attention to Exhibit A to the Coats affidavit.
16	This document is marked confidential, and therefore
17	I'm not going to read it in open court, but if Your	1
18	Honor has that and can turn to it, I would simply	1
19	direct Your Honor's attention to the last paragraph
20	of the page, which is Page 31, and it's Exhibit A to
21	the Coats affidavit.
22	(Brief pause)
		121

5-5

23

24

Any luck? THE COURT: I have it here. It's just a

		36
andres 22: 10:00 10:00		question of where it is.
	1	MR. SPARKS: If I may approach the
	2	Bench, this may save the Court looking for it.
	3
	4	THE COURT: Thank you.
· · · ·	5	MR. SPARKS: Your Honor, this document
	6	is an excerpt from a document that was sent by
	7	Mesa to the people from whom it's seeking to borrow ŝ	the money to finance its offer, and I think if Your
	0	Honor simply looks at what they told those people,
	10	and the numbers that they put before those people,
		you will see that they really have no standing here
	11	to challenge the reasonableness, appropriateness,
	12
	13	fairness, determinations that have been made
	14	variously by the board, by investment bankers with
	15	respect to the $72 number. Particularly the last
	16	paragraph there and the reference to "conservative"
	17	and the range of numbers they present on the next
-	18	page. And I think they speak for themselves. Also
	19	they suggest that the investment bankers didn't give
	20	any comfort in this circumstance with respect to the
	21	$72 number.
	22	I direct Your Honor's attention to
	23	Page 17 of the Sachs' affidavit where they say:
	24	"Following Mr. Blamey's

* ¥1

presentation" -- he's the chief financial officer --1 "I stated that in the opinion of Goldman Sachs and 15 a person seeking to selling a company in an orderly 3 liquidation might reasonably expect to achieve an A aggregate value for the stock between 70 and $75 per 5 share based upon the valuation analysis which we had 6 carried out and described above. Mr. Hobbs of 7 Dillon Read also stated that in the opinion of his 8 firm a price range of 70 to $75 per share would be 9 reasonably achievable under such a program." 10 The director had that information 11 They had the public information before before them. 12 them. They had their own judgment and knowledge of 13 the company, and they concluded that $72 was a fair, 14 not excessive, appropriate price. That is recorded in 15 the minutes. None of that is rebutted. 16 There is no Van Gorkum challenge here. 17 There hardly could be. It took the board nine hours 18 here of presentations to determine before they reached 19 their conclusion with respect to inadequacy, and indeed 20 they adjourned and didn't make a decision with respect 21 to the back-end tender offer until another 22 meeting two days, later after they received more 23 24 presentations.

A. S. S. W. A. C.

The bottom line is we have all of the 3 syidence, and they have nothing but Mr. Tassin's 1 belief. We have their admissions. They don't refute 3 them. And on this record the Court can only conclude 4 that $72 is an appropriate number. 5 Fifth and last, plaintiffs placed 6 nothing in the record to rebut the fact as confirmed 7 by Unocal's chief financial officer and its investment 8 bankers that Unocal could respond to any award of 9 money damages in this action. 10 Now, it's against that background that 11 they argue that Unocal's board can't exclude Mesa 12 from its exchange offer, and Mesa will be irreparably 13 injured if the Court does not either, one, enjoin 14 the offer, or two, order that Mesa be admitted to it. 15 Both sides agree, Your Honor, believe it 16 or not, on one thing, and that is we have to look at 17 Fisher versus Moltz. We have locked at it in our 18 briefs, and I believe from Your Honor's comments from 19 the Bench that Your Honor has also had a chance to 20 take a look at Fisher versus Moltz. Let's look at it 21 22 closely. The first thing the case says -- and the 23 case is absolutely clear about this -- is this: 26

5-8

1
	39
5-9	and the second
nan bar a mana an	"I'm aware of no Delaware case holding that there is an absolute prohibition against a Delaware corporation offering to purchase its
3	shares from one or more of its stockholders without
4	shares from one of more of the stockholders."
5	making a similar offer to all of its stockholders."
6	So much for Mr. Richards' per se rule
7	which he urges upon the Court today. Directly contrary to Fisher versus Moltz.
	Secondly, the Court holds that if you
9	do make an offer to some but not to all stockholders,
10	there must be a valid corporate purpose for the
11	discrimination, and that it must not unduly favor one
12	discrimination, and that is much
13	group of stockholders over another. And both of
14	these tests are satisfied here on what is basically
15	and uncontroverted record.
16	Let's review briefly and I think
10	Your Honor had it before, so I don't know if I have to go into it much in depth but the two purposes
18	for the exchange offer from the beginning. Those
19	purposes have been to provide Unocal public
20	stockholders with an appropriate valua for
21	stockholders with an approximate shares if the approximately one half of their shares if the 23	inadequate Mesa offer were to succeed, or in the
24	alternative to prevent Mesa from succeeding with its

40 demonstrably inadequate offer. The Court has to 1. accept the bona fides of the inadequacy of the offer 2 at least at this point in the proceedings. 3 Both of these purposes are established as proper on the record, and the business judgment of 5 the board in concluding that the Mesa offer is 6 inadequate is uncontroverted. Indeed we have been 7 through that. Admitted this afternoon. 8 The law in the cases of Cheff versus Mathes and Kaplan vercus Galdsamt makes it clear that 10 a buy-back of stock is a response to a takeover 11 threat. Again, no contest from the other side. 12 And Moran following other decisions has made it 13 clear that the stockholders' ability to gain premiums 14 through takeover activity is subject to the 15 good-faith business judgment of a board of directors, 16 instruction, defensive tactics. They basically 17 conceded that by saying this is a good offer. 18 Now, these valid corporate purposes on 19 this record today have to be accepted by the Court 20 based upon where we are. That gets us then to the 21

5-10

22

23

24 exclusion of Mesa and the justifications for that. And those valid business purposes also justify the exclusion of Mesa from the offer under the very

Ante-Table of the standard set forth in Fisher. As the record shows, and as the board considered, and as the investment bankers considered, if Mesa were permitted to tender into the exchange offer, both of its purposes, both of its bona fide purposes for today's purposes would be frustrated.

1.

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

41

As to the goal of providing additional value to Unocal's stockholders, if Mesa's inadequate offer succeeded, and were Mesa permitted to tender into the Unocal offer, each share that Mesa bought would displace one public share, and the result would be to the extent that happened it would defeat the very goal of giving stockholders the equivalent of $72 per share in value on the back end of the two-step Mesa Proposal instead of the $54 in securities which Mesa proposes to pay on the back end of its proposal. So Goal 1 is completely frustrated if they are permitted 17 to tender. 18

Coal 2, which I mentioned before, is 19 the alternative goal of deterring the inadequate 20 offer completely. Once again, were Mess permitted 21 to tender, what would be happening? Well, what 22 would be happening is that Mesa would tender to 23 Unocal, and it would get $72 a share for stock it 24

		STRAFT OF
1.2	42
	bought at 40, and it would then turn around a 2 utilize the $72 a share it got from Unocal to fund
(U)	3 Mesa's subsequent purchases at the inadequate price of 4 $54 a share, thus facilitating the very transaction
	5 which the board has found to be inadequate and 6 coercive because it's a two-step tender offer, and 7 people are forced to take paper of some uncertain
	8 quantity. Indeed apparently they haven't even been 9 told really what it is yet because the judge out in 10 California has told them they have to tell us in the 11 future what that security really is.
	12 They are forced in effect by the
ан. 19	13 structure of that transaction which is deemed 14 inadequate for the purpose of this proceeding to take 15 that inadequate price. So that to permit them to 16 tender in in effect would backfire. It would destroy 17 the very bona fide purposes of shareholder protection 18 that this offer was instituted for in the first 19 place.
	20 In the language of the case it's
•	21 always good to pull the case out of Fisher we've
	22 got a valid corporate purpose. We've got a valid
	23 corporate purpose for opposing this inadequate offer,
	24 and the discrimination is necessary to make the offer work. It's as simple as that. We have valid corporate purpose. It doesn't unduly favor one group over another because it's necessary to the purpose.
		1 ••••

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8 more.

21

22

23

24

Now, to show how far out we've gotten, the only thing, analogy that came out to try to counteract that was something having to do with assassinating Mr. Pickens.

Your Honor, assassinating Mr. Pickens, 9 one, would be illegal. It's a hypothetical that I 10 think is far out in that sense. But it would 11 also be more under anybody's argument -- more than 12 was justified in order to accomplish the valid 13 corporate purpose of defeating this tender offer. 14 The duly limiting language, or duly unfavoring language 15 in this context can only mean that yes, one, you have 16 a valid corporate purpose, and two, you then can do 17 what is necessary to achieve that valid corporate 18. purpose in the nature of a discrimination, but not 19 20

We haven't done any more here than is necessary. We have done exactly what was necessary. We have excluded him because if we didn't it wouldn't work, and it wouldn't accomplish the purpose.

Now, apart from that -- and I think that's all you have to do to meet the Fisher test. 2 Don't forget, for example -- I guess there are the 3 greenmail cases which Mesa conveniently forgets, but 6 in the greenmail cases, Kaplan versus Goldsemt, 5 Cheff versus Mathes and other cases of similar 6 ilk that have been considered in this and other 7 courts, you can pay a premium. You can probably 8 buy -- Unocal probably under Fisher versus Moltz 9 could have paid more than fair value here to gain 10 the benefit for the rest of its stockholders of 11 protecting them against an inadequate offer. That 12 probably would have been justified. So we really 13 may not have to reach the question of $72. But if we 14 do reach the question of $72, we come down to the 15 point that they in terms of their capacity as a buyer 16 are seeking to buy the whole company, are not 17 being discriminated against. 18 The $72 is less than the $73 which even 19 Mr. Pickens, probably contrary to his own interest, 20 at the press conference two or three days ago has 21 indicated is a fair value per share. 22 Now, unlike the exclusion in Fisher 23 which the Court obviously viewed as a punitive one in 24 that case, this exclusion is not. Indeed the Sachs affidavit explains at Paragraph 30 if Pickens persists in his $54 offer after the exchange offer is completed he will still end up buying Unocal for an effective price of less than $65 per share ending up with assets that he himself concedes to be worth $73. So even on an economic basis in his status as an offeror there really isn't any discrimination much less an undue favor.

5011

1

2

3

4

5

6 .7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18:

19

20 21

22

23

24

Put all this back into context. All of this comes up in the context of excluding somebody. You start in Fisher with the idea that you can exclude somebody. Fisher isn't the case where it's talking about letting somebody in and letting somebody partially in. Fisher is a case where you start off, the first question the Court asked is can you exclude somebody, and the answer to that question is yes. No per se rule that says you can't.

The second question is, do you have a valid corporate purpose for doing it. If the answer 2 to that is yes, then the next question is, have you 3 unduly favored one side over another in excluding the other side. And here we have done only what 5 was necessary. And beyond that, it has been done 6 in a way that, given his goal of acquiring the 7 entire company, it does not punish him. 8 You go back to the facts in Fisher. 9 It was a circumstance where the company was buying 10 back stock from former employees. It was a closely-11 held corporation. And the discrimination there was, 12 well, we are going to buy -- in the first place, 13 there was no challenge to the first discrimination. 14 We are not buying from people who are still employed. 15 We are only buying from former employees. So there 15 was sort of a valid discrimination that you started 17 with. But it was within the category of employees 18 who were no longer employees that there was an 19 attempted discrimination between those who were 20 lawfully competing with the company and those who 21 were not. And the Court obviously concluded that 22 that was punitive, vindictive, and they didn't have 23 any purpose for doing that other than wishing that 54 these people, who the Court very candidly emphasized were lawfully competing, weren't competing. It is just not this case at all.

46

6A1

17

Your Honor, in short, the exclusion of 4 Mesa is wholly justified on this record as being for 5 a proper purpose, as not favoring the public stock-6 holders any more than is necessary in order to achieve 7 the goals of assuring that they receive fair value 8 for their investment, they are not deprived of that 9 value by Mesa's inadequate and coercive two-step 10 tender offer. Indeed, the logical extension of 11 Mr. Richards' position is that a board faced with an 12 inadequate offer cannot take steps to fend off a 13 raider if that raider also happens to own stock. 14 And our cases, Cheff, Kaplan, Pogostin, Moran, make 15 it clear that such stockholders, so long as they are 16 pursuing personal goals which are contrary to the 17 interests of other stockholders, may be treated, in 18 the language of Fisher, as being in a different 19 category than passive investors and that a board, in 20 the language of Moran, may act contrary to their 21 wishes to protect stockholder values. And that is 22 what has happened here. 23

In short, Your Honor, there is no

6A2-

1

2

3

probability of success on this claim. Let me turn next to the question of irreparable injury. First with respect to their discrimination claim, plaintiffs don't have any. They have not met their burden of proof of showing that they will suffer any damage, since they continue to seek to purchase all of Unocal and the fair value of their stock which they will retain is by their own admission greater than $72 per share. And even if we don't rest on their admission, you have to rest on the fact that we have the board's judgment, we have the affidavits, we have their papers showing ranges of value, which I have shown to Your Honor. There is just no way that they can establish damage at this stage of these proceedings. Secondly, even if they had made some

48

SA3

*

2

3

A

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18.

19

20 21

22

23

24

showing of damage, they have not shown that Unocal would be unable to respond in money damages. To the contrary, the highly conservative analysis in the record of Mr. Blamey, as confirmed by both Dillon Read and Goldman Sachs, shows that Unocal's real not asset value even after the purchase of 87 million shares at 72 would exceed $2 billion. And even if Mesa were somehow able to convince this Court that

1	it had suffered some damage as a result of its
2	exclusion with respect to its 24 million shares, and
3	even assuming that there were no proration or con-
4	structive proration arising out of the fact that
5	this is only an offer for 50 million shares cut of
6	a total of 180 million-some shares, and even if you
7	assumed that the value of the shares held by
8	Mr. Pickens fell to, say, the $30 figure that was
9	mentioned by him in The Wall Street Journal yesterday
10	or the day before, and even if he somehow convinced
11	this Court that he didn't have any duty to mitigate
12	damages, his maximum damage would still be less than
13	half of the $2 billion number.
14	Mesa has not shown, as it must, that
15	it will suffer any cognizable injury or that money
16	damages are not completely adaquate to satisfy what-
17	ever injury it might be found someday to have suffered
18	It doesn't have any irreparable injury.
.19	The balance of hardships, Your Honor.
20	We come back to the fact that we have told stock-

6A4

21

22

23

24 holders this is the first good thing that the company has done for you, and they have urged stockholders to tender into it. And yet they seek to enjoin the offer, which could deprive the public of a transaction

	50 which plaintiffs themselves have characterized as
2	good and would leave Mass'shoffer, which on this
3	record is inadequate, as the only one out there.
4	It is a coercive two-step tender offer that people
5	will be forced to tender into if it is the only one
6	out there. And on this record it is inadequate.
7	And under the law here, when you have an offer like
60	that, Moran says those offers are coercive.
9	The more limited relief, if, indeed,
10	they are seeking it and I don't really know if
11	they are, because I still don't know what relief
12	they are seeking of requiring that Mesa be
13	permitted to tender is also contrary to the public
14	interest, since it would subsidize and, hence,
15	facilitate Mesa's concededly inadequate offer.
16	And we have been through that before. Permitting
17	them to tender, in effect, allows them to buy low,
18	sell high, take the money that they have achieved
.19	from that and buy more stock, probably buy it lower
20	than they have bought it before. Besides that,
21	plaintiffs' claims can be satisfied by money
22	damages.
.23	Finally, on the equitable side, there 24
N. Also	A STATE OF A

GAS

urgings of stockholders to tender to Unocal. Now, as the Trounstine case in our brief makes clear, one simply cannot come into a court of equity and complain of damage which he has, in fact, encouraged. So here if you accept plaintiffs' arguments -- and 5 I think what it really does is probably really shows 6 that they probably don't believe, as Mr. Tassin says, 7 that it is something less than 72, because if they B believed it was less than 72 and they believed there 9 was a chance that they were wrong on their discrim-10 ination claim, then what they are doing by encouraging 11 stockholders to tender into Unocal's offer, as they 12 have done -- and as I showed Your Honor, for 13 example, in Mr. Pickens' own writing just a couple 14 of days ago, for every share that is tendered, if 15 they are right about values, if they are right and 16 if they are right on the merits, they are being 17 damaged. You just can't do that. You can't encourage 18 people to go out and damage you and then come into 19 a court of equity and complain about it, and Troun-20 stine is right on point. 21

51

I think what it geally does is shows the inconsistency of their position and explains to 23 Your Honor why we haven't seen an affidavit of any 24

6AS

-

2

3

of their investment bankers in response to the Sachs affidavit and in response to the Hobbs affidavit and in response to the determinations of the board of directors, in response to the Blamey analysis, in response to Mr. Pickens' public statements. They haven't said it because they can't say it. $72 has to be accepted at this stage of these proceedings.

6A7

4

2

3

A

5

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18

「「「「「「「」」」」「「「」」」」」「「」」」」」」

Having really recognized they have no irreparable injury and really not being able to turn the Fisher case into a per se case, contrary to what it flat on its face says it is, they turn to something that is some sort of proxy claim. And the trouble with the proxy claim is that they have tried to tell the Court about some sort of injury arising from the fact that we have changed our offer before an annual meeting. Well, they have forgotten to tell the Court what the violation of law is and what the legal principle is they are relying on.

Well, to state the question almost answers it. In their brief they claim that the exchange offer should be enjoined because the April 23 waiver interferes with their proxy solicitation.
That is their claim. I don't know. Maybe it has been mooted by this adjournment of our meeting by the federal court to May 13, maybe not. But Enyway, there isn't any legal basis for the claim. They don't claim our offer is a sham. Indeed, they say it is very real, and they tell the Unocal stockholders to tender into it. And they don't claim that there is something that we haven't disclosed about it. It is a real, hard, objective event that has happened in the world.

53

This is not a case like the Lerman case and it is not a case like the case Your Honor decided a week ago, when we were before you, where anybody has changed the rules of a proxy contest in mid-stream, and it is not a case where anybody has been precluded from soliciting proxies or from voting proxies. Lerman has nothing to do with this. Neither does Your Honor's earlier decision.

What they are asking for is a rule of law that a contestant in a proxy contest refrain from other activity while an opponent is soliciting proxies. It is as simple as that. They want the world to stand still. They want to cay. "Management, you can't do anything, even if there is a competing tender offer against you, while there happens to be a proxy contest yoing on at the same time."

638

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

13

19 20 21

22

23

24

將北京 1841年1月11日

	54
1	Of course, the proxy contest that is
2	going on at the same time is a proxy contest they have created. So, in effect, they create this
3	scenario and then they seek to construct a rule
4	that says, "You can't do enything substantively.
5	Management, while the proxy contest is going on,
7	because that could influence the vote." Of course,
8	it could. And what they could do could influence
9	the vote, too.
10	In fact, since this, since we have
11	changed our offer, they have made announcement that
12	they are going to change their offer. They have said, "We are going to lower the price." They said,
13	"We are going to change it." The next day they said
14	they are going to lower it. Those may also have
16	the mount contest
17
18
19	Vour Honor's earlier
20	ng this was such a fuls, their own
21 22	the news wintered whatever this rule
2	internetated our solicitation of
2

Now, on April 8 they started a tender offer. There is an objective event. Does that violate some rule? Is something wrong with that? Of course not. It is simply something clse that is happening at the same time as the proxy contest, but it is not a change in the rules of the game of the proxy contest. Your Monor, there is no proxy claim here. It has nothing to do with Schnell or Lerman

6510

1997 i

- 由于出来

7

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

55

or anything else. And, indeed, I gather they are saying that -- I don't know what the claim is. I have done my best with it.

They haven't met their burden, Your Honor, of establishing any of the elements necessary here. They haven't established a reasonable proba-15 bility of success. They haven't established a 16 substantive per se violation of some sort because 17 Fisher says there isn't such a thing, and we have 18 been through the analysis. The purposes for the 19 discrimination have been admitted. The effects which 20 gave rise to the need to exclude Mess are manifest. 21 They are all in our papers, and again, there is 22 nothing to contradict. The Tassin affidavit doesn't 23 contradict those effects. 24

And they haven't done anything with respect to irreparable injury. They have no irreparable injury. They have not even attempted to make a showing that we couldn't respond to money damages. They can't make such a showing.

6011

, 1:

2

3

5

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18 19 20 21

22

56

Your Honor, the record is all one way on this, and they have the ultimate burden on any motion for a preliminary injunction.

There is one other thing they mentioned. They tried to slip in at the end a concept of fairness arising from the reargument decision in Fisher. Let's just put that in context. They tried to say that meant either fair price or you have to treat everybody fairly by treating them the same.

Well, it cannot mean that. I suggest to Your Honor it is a synonym for the word "unduly," because what we are talking about is a discrimination. We start with the proposition that there is a discrimination. Somebody is getting something. Somebody is having their stock bought and somebody else isn't. And then we say is the reason for that exclusion supported by a valid corporate purpose and is it necessary. That is really what Fisher says. 23 And then the second thing in Fisher, 24 the reargument opinion uses the word "fair" in that context. It can't mean is the price fair to the person that is being discriminated against, because you start with the proposition that he isn't getting anything. He is being discriminated against. That is what Fisher is all about. He is not getting anything, so it is not talking about price.

6C12

2

3

4

5

6

7

3

9

10

11

12

57

What is it talking about? Well, it is talking about, did you fairly discriminate against this person. Did you have a good reason and did you for some reason discriminate more than you needed to.

Your Honor, we haven't shot

Mr. Pickens. If we had shot Mr. Fickens, I don't 13 think I would be up here telling you that we had 14 taken action which was undue in light of our business 15 purpose. We have made a business decision that is 16 unchallenged here, that this offer is inadequate. 17 We have made a business decision to oppose it. We 18 have developed a defensive strategy. We are allowed 19 to do that under Moran, notwithstanding the fact that 20 he is a stockholder. That is what Moran and all 21 these other cases say. You can't insulate yourself 22 from defensive tactics by becoming a stockholdar. 23 That is not what the principle of treating stockholders 24

.656.709805857	STREET BOOK		-
			The second se
601	3	58
	1	equally means.	Concerned in the
	2	All these cases, Moran, Pogostin,
Ð	3	Aronson, say you have the right when that stockholder
	4	is, in effect, a buyer and all the rest of your
	5	stockholders are sellers and he has got an inadequate
	ó	price out there to take defensive techniques. And
	7	we have structured one that is reasonable. It is
	8	not punitive. And the restraint against him tendering
- 3	9	is necessary to make it work. Indeed, if it was not 10	in there, we would simply be facilitating the very
	11	offer that we are trying to protect the stockholders
	12	from, the very coercive two-step offer that they
	13	are otherwise going to be forced to tender into
4 - 11 -	14	certainly if Your Honor were to enjoin this one.	×
	15	Thank you.
	16	THE COURT: Mr. Sparks, I do have some
	17	questions.
	18	I missed one in the number of what
	19	I asked Mr. Richards.
	20	Does it matter for purposes of this
•	21	decision whether the Court makes any finding whether
	22	there is any evidence as to the 72 price being a
	23	fair reflection of the value of Unocal stock or not?	1000
	24	MF. SPARKS: Your Honor, I don't really	AND ALCON
			1 00.000 C
metale to a manage	and a set of the set of the set of the set		1

6C14		59
	-1	think it does. I think Your Honor can decide in our
200 - C	2	favor without necessarily having to reach that.
	3	If Your Honor does reach it, the result is obviously
	4	the same. We ought to win under either circumstance.
	5	But the reason I don't think it is
	6	necessary to reach it is the same reason that supports
	7	the ability to pay a premium to a raider in a green-
8 . 1	8	mail case. You pay the extra money, and in the
	9	process of paying the extra money you get the benefit.
*	10	Here what we are doing, we are not
	11	paying the greenmailer here. We are paying the
	12	other stockholders. And we have a justification for
1 - 1	13	doing that. His offer is inadequate. We have a
4	14	valid purpose, and the discrimination is not more
	15	than it needs to be. The rule or the idea that a raider has to get paid off, which comes through at 16	some point in their brief, in order for the
1000	17	discrimination to be valid would just turn the law
	18		and the second se
	19	on its head, and that is not the law and that is not	ST CLASS
	20	Fisher, because Fisher says you can discriminate	SAN STRATE
0	21	by making an offer to some and not all. That is what	a for the second se
	22	Fisher is all about.
e spesiel	23	So I think the purpose would support,
	24	in effect, the price. But we have the fortuitous
	100		S. 34-7

SC15	60
1	circumstance here that the price also happens to be
2	one that is blanketed by his own numbers and is one	14 - 14 - 14 - 14 - 14 - 14 - 14 - 14 -
3	that the board has found to be a price that fairly
4	reflects the underlying asset values.
5	And don't forget, Your Honor, he is
6	before the Court in his capacity as an offeror. He
7	is not here as a stockholder. He is the buyer.
8	All the rest of the stockholders are the sellers.
9	He is in a different category. Our cases recognize
10	it. He is seeking to acquire all the assets of
11	this company. If he gets the company, there is no
12	question that he can realize all those asset values.	1
13	THE COURT: Thank you. Getting
14	back to the Moltz case, as I understand you, looking
15	at the first step, you say, and I think to some
16	extent your adversary agrees, that you have got the
17	first step in the sense that you have a valid
18	corporate purpose and I am sure now Mr. Richards	10.12
19	will say that he doesn't agree to that but in 20	any case, in terms of the defensive maneuver as a	Net and
21	general concept.
22	MR. SPARKS: That's correct. And in	1. A.
23	terms, Your Honor, we believe also of the exclusion.
24	In other words, you could imagine a case where there

6015 -----

いたからな

意味は読む

	1
6C16		61
		could be some different kind of exclusion or some-
	2	thing, and you would be measuring it. But here,
•	3.	this was the practical way to do it.	1
	4	This exclusion was necessary. That
	5	is what the record shows, and the reasons are there.
	6	The exclusion was necessary; and therefore, that
	7	satisfies the second leg.
	8	THE COURT: That is what I wanted to
1.5	9	get to. It seems to me that what you are saying in
	10	terms of the next step is that it is necessary to
	11	accomplish this purpose; and therefore, I think,
	12	almost by definition, as you see it, it does not
1. T.A.	13	unduly favor certain classes of stockholders because,
	14	having determined that your defensive maneuver is
	15	going to be an exchange offer at this price, the only	n P N ^{Per} l
	16	way it will accomplish what you hope it will
	17	accomplish is if you leave Mesa or keep Mesa out of 18	it.
	19	MR. SPARKS: That's right. Otherwise,
	20	you are just financing their inadequate tender offer
0		in a sense.
	22	THE COURT: Okay. And my question is,
	23	isn't it possible that the necessary-to-accomplish-
	24	your-purpose standard may be broader in the sense	5
والمراجعة والمراجعة والمحاجمة والمحاجة والمحاجة

國大学的主义

agaan ah agaan ah

12: 11

は認知

1.2

10 cash a wint

6017		62
	, t	hat perhaps Unocal has an obligation to choose a
	2 d	efensive maneuver that will not require any \bigcirc	3 d	iscrimination against certain stockholders if there s another defensive maneuver that could also, if 5 5	uccessful, keep Mesa from taking you over.	C LUC AN
	6	MR. SPARKS: Your Honor, there are two	and the second se
		inswers to that question.	-
	8	First, the record is undisputed that	A WARD Control of ther alternatives were considered here, and this		*1 11
	10	vas the one adopted. And I believe on the record the n c	Court can only reach the conclusion that this is the
	12 0	one that the board in its business judgment considered
	13	would be the only one that would be effective.
	14	But the real answer is in the case
	15	itself, because we are interpreting a case, and that
2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	16	is not the type of purpose that the case talks
	17	about. It talks about a valid corporate purpose for
	18	limiting the offer, and that in so doing it has not
	19	unduly favored one group over the other.
	20	So focusing on the very case we are
	21	looking at and both sides have agreed is the
	22	appropriate one, the concept of valid corporate		nin Linne .
	23	purpose has not been expanded to include the question	3 4 .8
	24	of was there some other alternative apart from an
	Carl State		4 4-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-1-	• 700 Tan 74

	- 51 0	63
	5D19
	1	exchange offer, for example, that would have worked.
(7)+	2	The board obviously concluded that this was what
	3	would work. And the minutes indicate, although we deleted the future plans because some of the matters,
	5	you know, could still come up again, that they
	6	considered alternatives, and this was the one that
	7	they concluded in their business judgment with the
	8	advice of the bankers was the best bet, if you will.
	9	And it is the one they took.
	10	But apart from that, the Fisher case
	11	is talking about a valid corporate purpose for 12	limiting the offer. It is not asking do you have
•	12	a valid corporate purpose for making the offer.
2	14	Indeed, that is very clear from the context of the ÷	15	Fisher case itself, where the offer that was being
	16	made was one to former employees without being made
	17	to other employees. It was not an issue as to
	18	whether you could adopt an exchange offer at all	1.55-
- 	19	or even a discriminatory one. The case really did
1	20	focus in on the unduly discriminatory punitive
	21	concept. And there there was no valid purpose,
-		because the only reason they were discriminating
	22	was because certain people who were former employees
	,23	was because certain people who last longe appropriate who last longe approximation were, in the Court's language, lawfully competing
	24	were, in the court a rendered searcest courses a
	and the second

against them. In other words, the corporation really had no right to interfere with somebody lawfully doing something.

6019

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

ç

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18 19 20

21.

22

23

24

Here under our case law based upon the undisputed finding that this is an inadequate offer, and Moran, which says you have a right to seek to protect stockholders from those, and the fact that he has no right to conclude an inadequate offer, we have that privilege, if you will, to put him in a category that he has placed himself, frankly.

But the real answer to the question, the real answer is, interpreting the case and on the issues before the Court, a valid corporate purpose is a valid corporate purpose for limiting the offer, not a valid corporate purpose for selecting the exchange offer tactic as distinguished from some other tactic that might have been available but this board concluded in its business judgment really wasn't or, if not wasn't, certainly wasn't the best one to employ under the circumstances.

THE COURT: All right. Just one more question. On irreparable harm, without belaboring the point too much, could you explain to me in relatively simple terms exactly what would happen if the exchange offer goes forward with Mesa not being allowed to tender and at some point after that time the Court determines that that was unlawful and that Mesa was entitled to participate or the offer, in fact, had to be rescinded. What step, literally, what could be done at that point to put things back?

5020

1

2

3

5

6

7

8

0

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18 19 20 21

22

23

24

65

1.7.2.4 日本

MR. SPARKS: Mesa would come in here and they would have a value of $72 a share, and then they would try to show that by losing out on that offer, what they had left, which would be stock, or maybe they would have sold the stock on the market or mitigated or fixed their damages -- they would have tried to show in some way or form there was a spread there that they were entitled to be paid. And I don't know what their theory would be, but it would all come down to money, because what they are saying right now is, "We want to put our stock into this offer."

Now, with all their encouragement I am sure this offer is probably going to be oversubscribed. I have no factual basis for saying that, but we are asking people to tender, they are asking people to tender. I suspect everybody in the world

		65	A dealers
	6021	50
0	1	will tender. So it is going to be heavily prorated.
	2	So we are really probably only talking about some
	3	small fraction of their stock.
	4	But be that as it may, if they are
	5	excluded from this offer and don't have a right to
	6	have it taken down with everybody else and they
	7	subsequently incur damage as a result of that, they
	8	come to the Court and they ask for it. And if they		÷ 1 4
	9	can prove that the discrimination was invalid under	1.12
	10	the circumstances as they exist today, then arguably	3
ingen i Skart	11	they might be entitled to it, although there are 12	all sorts of scenarios you can think of where they	1
-	13	would really be estopped by many of their own
	14	statements as to the value of this stock from		2. 18
	15	really recovering anything.		and the state
	16	THE COURT: But if I understand Mesa's
	17	position correctly, Mesa is not interested in getting
	18	money at this point. Mesa wants to be a participant,		and the second
	19	in fact, wants to own a company that has a certain		a the gla
	20	proportion of debt and equity, and how could you re-		4 - 1 - 2 - 2 - 2 - 2 - 2 - 2 - 2 - 2 - 2
	21	er Marine William (1997) 「「「「「「「「「「」」」、「「」」、「」、「」、「」、「」、「」、「」、「」、
	22	그는 사실을 받았는 것 같은 것 같은 것 같은 것 같은 것을 물었다. 것 같은 것 같		and an a
	23	이 같이 주변 전쟁을 전한 법에서 전문을 가장 것을 수 있는 것을 다 있는 것을 다 있는 것이라. 것은 것은 것은 것을 다 있는 것을 다 있는 것을 다 있는 것을 하는 것을 수 있다. 이렇게 하는 것을 하는 것을 하는 것을 수 있는 것을 하는 것을 수 있다. 것을 하는 것을 하는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 이렇게 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 하는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 것을 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 것을 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 것을 것을 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 것을 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있는 것을 수 있다. 것을 것을 것을 것을 수 있다. 것을
	24	freeze the picture of this company as it stands today.
			-
2			in and a	and the second
And Can	the second second second		A PROPERTY	Contraction of the second s

A. 1999

NIT:

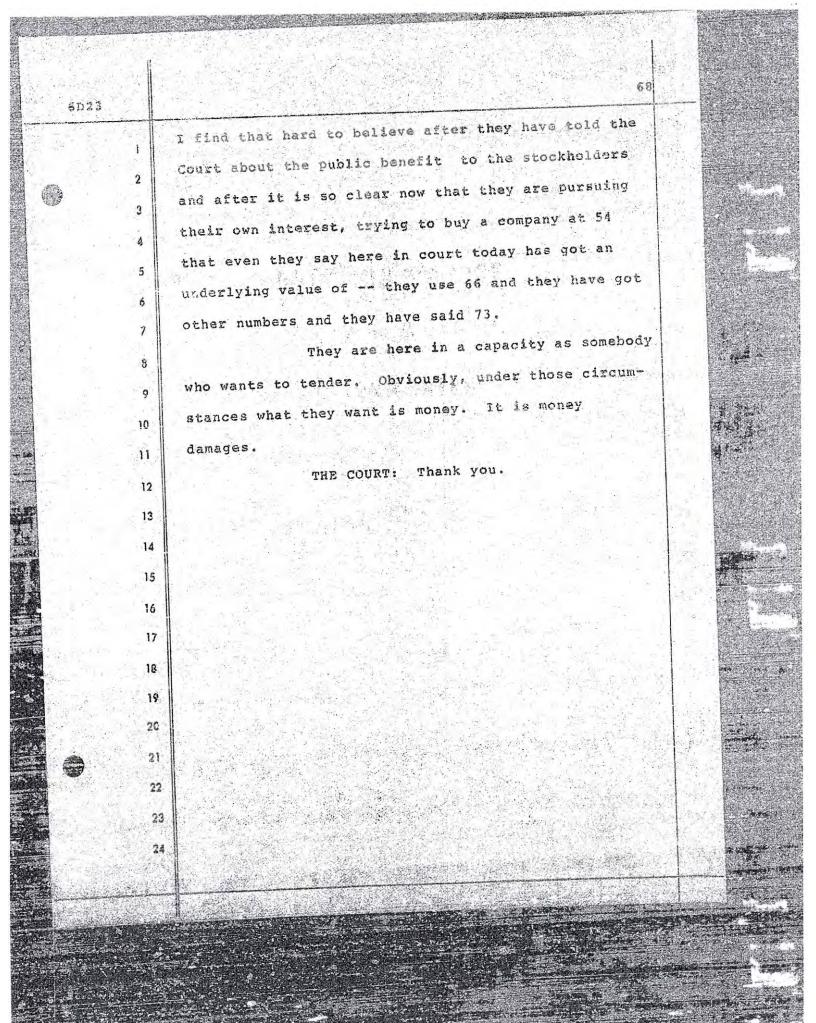

語語という

NUMBER OF THE OWNER

4.10

	57
6D22	51
	and they certainly can't be contending I don't think they are that we don't have the right to 2	nut debr out to our stockholders. In fact, that is
3	the thing that they have said is so good. This is
4	a most deal for stockholders, Tender. Go ahead and
5	they don't have a right to freeze this
6	is some sort of posture, and they don't have
7	- might to make an inadequate tender offer. The
1	Moran case makes that absolutely clear.
	so they are not here protecting their
1	What they are
1	doing and what they have said today and what they
1	have said in the affidavits is, they want to tender.
	have said in the arrithter this offer, and they want They want to tender into this offer, and they want
		••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••
	15 the debt. Now, the debt is conceded by everybody
	16 Now, the cost of the land of the loss o	v to be fully valued at 72. Noncorr trades at a discount. It is as good as money. You 	a Ru 18 trades at a discount. It is as your and it. You get the debt, you sell it, and you can sell it. You 19 get the debt, you sell it, and you sell it, and you sell it, and you sell it, and you sell it is money. It is basically 20 can keep the debt. But it is money. It is basically 	2 - 2 - 2 - 1
		all the state
30	21 money that they want from us. 22 They are asking this Court I don't
	22 They are asking this Court to do. Maybe 23 know what they are asking this Court to do. Maybe	1
	23 know what they are asking this could be offer. And	in the second Ē	24 they are asking the Court to enjoin the offer. And a hidi Artices 1.7 TIRECY
	And the second	101753

14.00

No.
		MR. RICHARDS: First of all, I want to 2	mention, in case I should forget later, that the
)	3	Court and the parties are still under the deadline
	4	that existed earlier in the sense that there is the 400 A	5	Bench on the West Coast that I reported at the beginning, and there haven't been any other events
	6	that have modified the fact that Unocal's proration
	7	date and the expiration of its offer is April 30
	8	at midnight New York time, so that they can buy this
	9
	10	Tuesday. Now, Unocal's counsel made a couple of 11
	12	arguments, indeed, his principal arguments, which it
1.1	13	seems to me are clearly and indisputably refuted by
	14	the papers before the Court.
	15	First of all, he talks about some sort
	16	of inconsistent position and some sort of acquiescence
	17	in this offer by Mesa. And I suggest and I use
	18	these words advisedly that that really is
	19	patently absurd. I mean, we got the announcement of
	20	the offer, the modification of the offer, on the
	21	and a second of hours we filed a
0	22	initial order against it.
	23	a start ways that this is a
		they should tender
	24	good thing for the sharehouse .
a martine and a second of
P. SHERE T. SHE	With the state of the

1. 1. 1. 1. 6E-1

69 ę

-

合称,是40% 一条方面合有

Mariat.	анана 1
•		70
2		and that is inconsistent."
	2	Well, let's look at what Mr. Pickens
0		has said and passing aside that Mr. Pickens is not
	3	under oath in those declarations and we don't know
	5	whether we have an accurate transcript and they are,
	3	therefore, clearly hearsay, let's take them as if
	6	they were the hard, concrete evidence that Unocal says
	8	they are. I think they are dealt with in the
	9	third Tassin affidavit, particularly in Paragraph 2.
	10	And Paragraph 2 attaches a press release that was
	11	released to the media on April 24. And because of all
	12	the emphasis to this I want to read the press release.
	13	"T. Boone Pickens, Jr., chairman of the
	14	board and president of Mesa Petroleum. Company,
	15	stated that Mesa believes the Unocal Corporation
	16	exchange offer is illegal and is seeking to have the
	17	offer enjoined. In commenting on a report that he
	18	said that Unocal shareholders should accept the Unocal
	19	offer, Mr. Pickens said that the earlier quote did not
	20	fully set forth his remarks. He indicated that
	21	pending a judicial determination as to the validity
	22	of the offer, Unocal shareholders may wish to tender
	23	to Unocal in order to protect the value of their
	24	uncel purchases shared.

6-2

Mr. Pickens again urged the Unocal shareholders, "Vote to adjourn the Unocal annual meeting currently scheduled to be held April 29." And, indeed, that is exactly the same reason why Mesa itself wishes to tender. It wants to be treated pro-rata. It believes that this is a high offer compared to the value. Now, I suppose the reason why Unocal can't understand that is because they are more cynical than Mesa. They evidently believe that the position Mesa should have taken was that it should have tendered itself if it believed that was 11 advantageous, even though it thought the offer was 12 illegal, but it should have told all the other 13

623

2

3

5

5

7

8

9

10

14

15

16

17

18 19 20 21

22

23

24 shareholders not to.

71

We simply are not that cynical, and we have maintained all the time, and notwithstanding all the rhetoric against us, I think it can be shown that we have been consistently acting in order to enhance shareholders' values, and that is the results Mesa has brought to the shareholders of Gulf and Phillips and the other actions that Mr. Harley evidently sees as atrocities. And this view is explained in the Tassin affidavit.

Nr. Tassin says in Paragraph 2, "Such press release correctly states the view of the plaintiffs." And then he explains, "As stated in the press release, it is plaintiff's view that the discriminatory feature of the amended debt tender, which would permit all Unocal stockholders except Mesa Partners to participate in the amended debt tender, is illegal. Plaintlffs have also stated that pending a judicial determination as to the validity of the amended debt tender, stockholders of Unocal may wish to tender their shares into it in order to protect the value of their investment in the event Unocal purchases shares." And that is, if you read the notes of one of Unccal's lawyer's secretary's of the meeting, fairly what he said at the meeting at the time. He told people that Mesa thought it was illegal. He told people he thought we would sue but that it 17

6E4

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

10

11.

12

13

14

15

16

18 19 20 21

22

23

24

72 was, aside from that, a good offer and they ought to tender to protect themselves.

Now, they also rely on Mr. Pickens' cut-of-court declarations for another thing. And it appears to be their principal evidence of value. They say there is an admission by Mr. Pickens that the stock of Unocal is worth 73 or more. And I ask

6E5	73
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11	Your Honor to read carefully, if you haven't already had a chance, the Knighton affidavit. And looking at Page 6 and the page numbers are the telacopied page numbers in the upper right hand corner in the very first question and answer, as reported by Mrs. Knighton, to Mr. Pickens was, "Does Unocal's $72 per share reflect the true value of the stock? "Answer: The cumulative value of the Unocal stock is about $63. That doesn't change anything." Now, the part that Mr. Sparks has referred to appears on Page 6, where the question is, "Isn't the company valued at higher than $72 as far as you know? "Answer: John S. Herold figure is $73 per share. Recognized authority. Management has e craterio prost.
		income in the party of the second

	74
686	are notes. Nobody speaks in that kind of cryptic language. So we have the defect of not having a
2 3	full transcript.
4	But taking that as a full transcript, and assuming it was under oath and evidence taken
6	in this case, it is preposterous to assert that that is an admission that Mesa believes the stock is
8	worth $73, particularly when you put it face to face	. milliont
9	with the statement made on Page 6. Now, next he refers to Exhibit A to the	5 8 8 - 1 - 28
11	Coats affidavit, and he refers to how Exhibit A was used. Your Honor will look carefully through the
13	record, and you will find there is not one iots of evidence in this record as to who prepared Exhibit A,
14	for what purpose it was used or whether it was ever
7 16 17	used at all. And Mr. Sparks' statement as to how it was used is, in fact, wrong. But there is nothing
18 19	in the record whatsoever. It is just attached to the Coats affidavit.	a there at
20	Now, Unocal's argument appears to be simply that this discriminatory treatment is
21 22	necessary. I suggest that the question isn't is it	a fran antisestations
23 24	necessary. The question is is it inequitable or illegal.

If it's necessary and inequitable or illegal, then I think as Your Honor may have 2 suggested by your question, Unocal should adopt a 3 different strategy, because this one can't be used. 4 Now, I suggested the possibility of 5 murder not because I was equating this to murder, but ó really because I thought it was a term that 7 Mr. Hartley -- I understood him having started off 8 by calling people murderers and rapists. 9 But what I meant to suggest here was 10 let's assume that this is unlawful. It's a 11 syllogism if you follow the argument the way 12 13 Mr. Sparks does. He says if we have a proper purpose, 14 and it's necessary to do something, then it's okay. 15 That makes it okay. That makes something that would 16 otherwise be unlawful or inequitable okay. 17 I say we should start at the other end. 18 Let's look and see if what they are doing is illegal 19 or inequitable or contrary to the whole flow of the 20 Dalaware corporation law. And then we have to ask 21 ourselves a question can it be done under a high 22 sounding valid corporate purpose. And I take it the 23 point of the murder analogy is to say that you can't do 24

7-1

7-2	76
	an illegal or inequitable act and have a lofty
2	corporate purpose. You have to use valid means to
0	carry out your purposes.
	Now, Unocal's person says oh, but you can't get that out of the Fisher case. I suggest that that is one of the things that can be meant by 7 unduly favoring one group over another. I suggest
	8 that in this situation this discrimination
	9 unduly favors all the other shareholders over Mesa.
3	0 It's because it's unlawful or inequitable, so they
I	ought to adopt some other strategy. This is not the only defensive strategy that can be. Indeed all of 13 the other defensive strategies that have traditionally 14 been upheld by the Court as argued earlier are 15 stratagies that affect alloof the shareholders the 16 same way. That is the sale of assets, the buying back 17 of assets, white knight tenders, the issuance of 18 securities, and so forth.
	Now, I think that Mr. Sparks' argument
	20 was equally notable for some of the things that he 21 didn't say. When he talked about the business judgment rule, and indeed throughout his argument he 23 never referred to their self-interest, he never 24 uttared a word as to how the business judgment rule can 的现代研究

5 14. A.

-

protect directors who have proposed a self-tender that would benefit them to the tune of $70 million. Not a word. As far as his argument was concerned that fact doesn't exist.

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18 19 20 21

22

23

21

77

Yet the law is absolutely clear that that deprives the defendants of the benefit of the business judgment rule, and imposes on them the burden of showing the intrinsic fairness of this transaction to all of the shareholders. He hasn't even maintained that it's intrinsically fair to Mesa.

Now, he says but what about greenmail? He says in greenmail that's okay. So this somehow might be okay. But he explains the difference in the way he explains it. He said -- he didn't completely say it. In greenmail of course the person selling the stock and the person buying it have agreed on the sale. Then he went on to say and the other shareholders benefit because the dissident is removed. So that all of the shareholders get something The greenmailer, or the person selling his stock, he gets a price which he has negotiated and agreed on. The other shareholders, they get something. They get the removal of the dissident. He doesn't suggest that Mesa gets anything.

7-4	78
	Now, I think that Your Honor grasped
2	my argument of course I have no idea whether you
3	accepted it as to this unique bundle of assets
4	and this what was referred to earlier and then adopted	The second s
5	by my friend in his answering brief of this
6	kaleidoscope event and thow all of the events are	and the second se
7	interrelated. And, you know, if this offer goes	and a second second
8	forward, then millions of shareholders or not		144
9	millions of shareholders, but tens of thousands of
10	shareholders owning millions of shares will change
11	positions. Some will become tenderors, some will
12	become buyers and sellers in the market, and everybody		-
13	will sort of change places in the light of that
14 .	fact, and Unocal will be different, and the universal		and a f
15	shareholders will be different, Mesa will do something		an a
16	different, and Unocal itself will do something
17	different. There is no way to ever unravel that
18	and send the shares back and the money back, and undo		(FBU AV
19	all the market transactions, and have Unocal take
20	back and Mesa take back whatever it will do.
21	But even if that wasn't true, let's		All growthe
22	suppose we accept Unocal's argument that while neck,		la de la
23	Unccal has got a deep pocket, and we can respond you
24	know, even though the damages might be over a killion		an an g dollars, which he conceded; you know, we've got it. Just barely, he says, but we've still got it. We haven't hocked the company completely.

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

18 19 20

79

Well, I think that Thomas versus Kempner is clear authority for the proposition that where catastrophic damages may be imposed, and where the catastrophic damages might be imposed on a poard of directors, as I suggest here they would be, that that itself is a reason for granting injunctive relief. And Your Honor may remember that in that situation there was a board of directors that was selling a rather large piece of land down in Sugarland, 12 Texas, and they had arranged a sale of the assets 13 subject to shareholder approval at about 23 or 23-1/2 14 million dollars, and a dissident family member came 15 along and said I've got a higher offer here for 27 or 16 27-1/2 million, which he procured. 17

So the catastrophic damages there was some 4-1/2 million dollars, and there was no question but that the wealthy family involved, the Kempner family, had more than enough money to respond in 21 4-1/2 million dollars, and Chancellor Marvel said well, 22 these kind of catastrophic damages are just not 23 appropriate remedy, and rather than expose the 24 directors to that possibility I'm going to enjoin that transaction, and that's what he did.

80

Now, with respect to the proxy claim, he says he doesn't understand the proxy claim, and he. doesn't understand what's the illegal act, what's the wrong. Well, the illegal act is what he contends is this illegal and discriminatory offer, and the offer 7 is intended to, and will have an effect on the proxy 8 solicitation. So if the offer is illegal, and it has 9 this effect on the proxy solicitation just as Your 10 Honor held that the interpretation of the bylaw was 11 illegal, and now Judge Tashima has said that because 12 of that their proxy disclosures were inadequate, now 13 the meeting has got to be put off. There is the same 14 connection. It's the illegal offer used to garner 15 votes.

16

24

1-6

-

2

3

4

5

6

He says I don't understand the rule 17 of law that that would apply. Well, the rule of law 18 is that you can't commit an illegal act for the 19 purpose of influencing a solicitation of votes. 20 Finally, at least for me, Your Honor 21 brought the matter into its proper perspective with 22 your next to the last question to Unocal's counsel, 23 and that was where you asked a question which suggested that if the exchange offer only works as an anti-takeover device by employing it in an illegal or inequitable manner, then defendants must chose another defense, and I think that's the essence of what we submit here.

1

2

3 á

5 20 21

22

23

24

81

On this record we are not getting into their judgment, which we will dispute later, as to 7 whether or not it's a good faith judgment that we are 8 somebody that should be discouraged, but we are 9 saying even accepting that, that doesn't under that 10 umbrella ju ify any steps that they might take, 11 but that the Court has a responsibility to look at 12 the step itself, and say is this a fair act. Is 13 this equitable? Is this consistent with the 14 defendants' fiduciary duties to Mesa Partners II as 15 well? Mesa Partners II is a shareholder of Unocal. 16 It's the largest shareholder. It holds over 23 million 17 shares, or 13.6 percent. It has an investment of 18 over a billion dollars. 19

We just can't have a rule of law that because you are a raider and the management doesn't like you, that you can choose that person's investment, you can use it differently and apply different standards to it, and treat all of the other

	1	82	Sept. St
8		45
0	1	shareholders favor them at the expense of the
	2	person you don't like.
	3	Thank you.
	4	MR. SPARKS: May I respond to one
	5	or two points that Mr. Richards has made that I
(7) 	6	didn't get a chance to respond to?
	7	MR, RICHARDS: Well, Your Honor, I was
	8	more or less under the impression that bearing, it
	9	was my privilege to close.
	10	THE COURT: I'll give you an
	11	opportunity to respond again, Mr. Richards.	31
	12	MR. RICHARDS: Thank you.	а С 4 т.
	12	MR. SPARKS: I just want to address the
	14	self-interest point. We addressed it in our brief,	and a second
	15	and I think it's all there, but basically there is
	16	some effort here to try to cram this into sort of a	stra June
	10	parents-subsidiary line of self-dealing basis.	195 ⁴¹ 21
	18	If Your Honor recalls, the test in
	10	Sinclair versus Levien, even if it were applicable
	20	here it is to the exclusion and detriment of others
	21	stockholders. If somebody acts to the exclusion and	Star Constant Constan
	22	anticipated detriment of other stockholders, they have
	23	the interinging fairness. In the
	24	while report if we ever had that burden under any of the scenarios, we have met it with respect to every aspect of it including the $72 based on the record that's here. But we don't think it has anything to do with this case for two reasons.

T'an G

ï

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

14

15

16

17.

18

19 20 21

22

23

24

83

One, the directors -- By the way, the $70 million is a bit misleading. One director has most of that stock. The other 12 really have small interests. But apart from that, if the $72 number is right, the detriment leg of self-dealing even if it were applicable doesn't apply because they really haven't suffered the detriment arising out of this 12 particular transaction. 13

Secondly, if you analyze it, the directors are being treated the same as all other 76,000-some odd passive investors. They are not taking anything more than those people or anything less. Indeed it would have been an anomaly for them not to have tendered their own shares into an offer they were recommending, and indeed the record shows that they did it after that type of a recommendation.

As to the fact that Mesa isn't in there, we've got a valid business reason why Mesa isn't there. It hasn't been challenged, and there can't be a suggestion on this record, nor given the size of Mesa's holdings would it make any sense to say this was somehow motivated by the desire of these people to somehow not have -- be prorated in some very small fraction by some reason that Mesa wasn't in the offering, and they get a few more shares. On this record you can't reach that kind of conclusion.

7-20

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

15

16

17

18 19 20

21

But as a matter of law, if they are being treated with all other stockholders, that's not self-dealing. The only shareholder that's not in 11 the picture is Mesa, and that's for a valid 12 corporate reason on the record that they are not 13 there. 14

Mr. Richards mentions catastrophic damage. There are two responses to that. One is they still have no showing of any -- that's a relative concept -- that that means it's going to cause some harm or damage to the corporation. We put in evidence that shows that the company could respond to this money damage. He hasn't even refuted that, much less put in something to show that in 22 responding it would somehow be catastrophic. And he 23 talks every now and then about the individuals as if 24 for some reason the damage comes from them. This is not a derivative suit, Your Honor, and we know why 2 it's not. He cannot pick up in his present 3 representative capacity for all the other shareholders 4 of Unocal. He's on the other side of the fence. He's 5 not suing these directors derivatively. He's 6 suing Unocal and its directors. Unocal can respond 7 8 to the damages. Finally, just addressing all of the 9 argument, it all comes back to his assumption. He 10 assumes the discrimination is illegal or unlawful or 11. inequitable. Fisher tells us that discrimination is 12 okay so long as you meet certain tests. It's not 13 illegal, inequitable on its face. Certain tests are 14 to be met, and we havemet them. He keeps coming back 15 to that with his predicate for this proxy claim and 16 17 his other claims. 18 Thank you. 19 THE COURT: Thank you. 20 MR. RICHARDS: I really feel that I've addressed all of the points that Mr. Sparks mentions. 21 I hope his feelings won't be hurt that I don't feel. 2. 23 it's necessary to reply.

84

-

7-11

24

85

THE COURT: In that case we'll stand in

87 CERTIFICATE 1 WE, HENRY D. SKOGMO AND 2 LORRAINE B. MARINO, Official Reporters for the Court 3 of Chancery of the State of Delaware, do hereby 4 certify that the foregoing pages numbered 3 through 86 5 contain a true and correct transcription of the 6 proceedings as stenographically reported by us at 7 the hearing in the above stated cause, 8 before the Vice Chancellor of the State of Delaware, 9 on the date therein indicated. īύ IN WITNESS WHEREOF WE have hereunto set 11 our hands at Wilmington, this 26th day of April, 1985. 12 13 Official Reporter for the 14 Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware 15 16 Official Reporter for the 17 Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware 13 19 20 Typed by: Lucinda M. Reeder 21 and Patricia Hoffman 22 23 24

